

Title: Break Down the Walls: Supporting LGBTQ People with I/DD

Ideal Number of Participants: 40-60, but flexible

Audience: Professionals

Number of Training Days: 60-90 Minutes

Description: This online workshop is presented by Elevatus Training trainers, Oscar Hughes (Professional) and Pauline Bosma (Self Advocate).

LGBTQ people with intellectual and developmental disabilities have felt invisible when someone is supporting them around the topic of sexuality. They want and need access to support and sexuality information that acknowledges and appreciates their whole selves. This workshop is designed for professionals, self-advocates, and sexuality educators, to better support the LGBTQ people with intellectual and developmental disabilities they work with, care about or teach, either in a one on one or class setting.

Learning Objectives:

- Reflect on the stories of LGBTQ individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities.
- Explore effective strategies for supporting LGBTQ individuals with I/DD.

Agenda:

Define sexual identity, gender identity, and gender expression

Support LGBTQ+ people with I/DD

Promote healthy LGBTQ+ relationships
